WORLD PETRARCH CONGRESS PLANNED

On April 6, the World Petrarch Congress will open at the Folger Shakespeare Library, Washington, D.C. The co-chairmen of the Congress are O. B. Hardison, Jr., Director of the Folger, and Aldo S. Bernardo, President of the newly founded Verrazzano College, Saratoga Springs, N.Y. Other sponsoring organizations include the National Endowment for the Humanities; the Library of Congress and Smithsonian Institution are cooperating institutions.

The week-long international Congress marks the 600th anniversary of the death of Francesco Petrarca, the 14th-century Italian poet and humanist who has been called the "Father of the Renaissance."

One of the highlights of the week's events will be the commemoration of Petrarch's coronation as Poet Laureate on Rome's Capitoline Hill on April 8, 1341. The commemoration ceremony will take place on Monday, April 8, and will include a processional in academic gowns from the Folger Shakespeare Library to the West Front of the U.S. Capitol where Sen. John O. Pastore will read excerpts from Petrarch's "Coronation Oration." The ceremony is open to the public.

Included in the week's activities are two lectures scheduled to be delivered in the Coolidge Auditorium of the Library of Congress. On Thursday, April 11, at 11 a.m., Charles Trinkaus will speak on "Petrarch and Classical Philosophy"; at 2:30 p.m. Francis X. Murphy will discuss "Petrarch and Christian Philosophy."

Further information on the Congress is available from Adrienne Schwartz at the Folger Library. Seating for the events scheduled for the Library's Coolidge Auditorium will be available on a first come-first serve basis for those persons not registered for the Congress.

DEPARTMENTS TO BE REPRESENTED ON WOMEN'S PROGRAM COMMITTEE

The Federal Women's Program was established to enhance employment and advancement opportunities for women employees throughout the Federal Government. A Federal Women's Program is being developed at the Library of Congress and a Federal Women's Program Committee will be formed this spring to assist and advise the Library's Federal Women's Program Coordinator, Morrigene Holcomb, in implementing the program. Members of the committee will represent their departments and will help to communicate ideas and information to and from the Federal Women's Program; work on possible study projects, such as day care and part-time employment; and assist in planning and implementing such activities as a speakers' program and Federal Women's Week.

The committee will consist of one member and an alternate from each department and the Office of the Librarian. It should reflect a cross-section of Library of Congress employees, by such factors as sex, race, and grade level. Volunteers should express their Department directors will submit a list of three persons, in order of preference, to the Librarian by April 19. The final selection of committee members and alternates will be made by May 3.

It is hoped that the committee will consist of Library men and women who are actively interested in improving the status of women at the Library.

NEW VOLUME OF VERSE PUBLISHED BY LIBRARY'S POETRY CONSULTANT

Daniel Hoffman, Consultant in Poetry to the Library of Congress, is the author of a new book of poems scheduled for publication by Random House on Monday, March 18. Entitled The Center of Attention. Mr. Hoffman's latest work is his sixth volume of verse. He is also well known for his critical writings. [A full account of Mr. Hoffman's career appeared in the LC Information Bulletin at the time of his appointment as Consultant; see the LCIB for March 23, 1973.]

The Center of Attention is a collection of some 50 poems, several of which Mr. Hoffman read last October 1 at the opening program of the Library's 1973-74 literary season. These include "Print-Out Song," "Eagles," and the book's title poem.

When cataloged, The Center of Attention will be added to the Library's general collections; a copy is available for consultation in the Library's Poetry Office (ext. 5394). The book can be ordered from Random House, 201 E. 50th St., New York, N.Y. 10022, for $1.95 in paper or $6 in hardcover.

HONORARY CONSULTANTS NAMED

The Librarian of Congress has announced the appointment of Chauncy D. Harris, University of Chicago, as Honorary Consultant in Geography to the Library of Congress, and Arthur H. Robinson, University of Wisconsin, as Honorary Consultant in Cartography to the Library of Congress. Both appointments are for three-year terms and were effective March 1.

Dr. Harris, a native of Logan, Utah, received a B.A. degree from Brigham Young University in 1933. As a Rhodes Scholar from 1934-36 he was awarded a B.A. degree from Oxford University. A student at the London School of Economics from 1936-37, Dr. Harris then continued graduate studies at the University of Chicago, receiving a Ph. D. degree in 1940, with a major in geography.

Dr. Harris served as instructor in geography at Indiana University from 1939-41, and as assistant professor in geography at the University of Nebraska from 1941-43. He was appointed assistant professor of geography at the University of Chicago in 1943, was promoted to associate professor in 1946, and to professor in 1947.

From 1955-60 Prof. Harris served as Dean of the Division of Social Sciences, and from 1967-69 he was Chairman of the Department of Geography. Since 1966 he has been Director of the Center for International Studies and, since 1969, Samuel N. Harper Distinguished Service Professor of Geography.

Prof. Harris has served as Secretary, Vice President, and President of the Association of American Geographers, President of the American Association for the Advancement of Slavic Studies, Vice President of the Regional Science Association, Director, Vice Chairman, and member of the Executive Committee, Social Science Research Council, and is currently Vice President of the American Geographical Society.

On Friday morning, March 8, at 10 o'clock, the Librarian of Congress, the Architect of the Capitol, Sen. Howard W. Cannon, Chairman of the Joint Committee on the Library, and representatives of the architects and builder participated in an informal ceremony for the laying of the cornerstone of the Library of Congress James Madison Memorial Building. In his remarks on the occasion, Mr. Mumford paid special tribute to one person who could not be there, former Sen. B. Everett Jordan of North Carolina, the long time Chairman of the Coordinating Committee on the Madison Building and former Chairman and Vice Chairman of the Joint Committee on the Library. Sen. Jordan had worked selflessly and tirelessly to obtain this building for the Library of Congress.

Assembled for the ceremony in the photograph above are Mr. Mumford; Architect of the Capitol George M. White; Gino Valenti, Superintendent of Construction in the Architect's Office; Assistant Architect of the Capitol Mario E. Campioli; and Sen. Cannon. The Librarian is pictured on the right as he applies the first mortar to the location for the stone. On the left, Deputy Librarian of Congress John G. Lorenz and Mr. Mumford pose before the stone in place with Elizabeth H. Kegan, Assistant Librarian of Congress, and Mr. White.

He has participated actively in the programs of the International Council of Scientific Unions, the International Research and Exchanges Board, and the International Geographical Union. He is past Vice President and current Secretary-Treasurer of the I.G.U. Prof. Harris received an honorary degree from the Catholic University, Chile, in 1956 and he holds honorary memberships in seven foreign geographical societies.

His special fields of interest are the geography of the U.S.S.R., economic and urban geography, and geographical bibliography, and he is the author of several monographs and numerous articles in professional journals.

Arthur H. Robinson was born in Montreal, Canada, of American parents in 1915. He earned a B.A. degree from Miami University (Oxford, Ohio) in 1936, an M.A. from the University of Wisconsin in 1938, and a Ph. D. in geography, from Ohio State University in 1947. Miami University awarded him an honorary D. Litt. in 1966.

From 1941 to 1946 Dr. Robinson was Chief of the Map Division, Office of Strategic Services. In 1946 he joined the faculty of the University of Wisconsin and was appointed Professor of Geography in 1951. He served as Chairman of the Department of Geography from 1954 to 1958, and from 1966 to 1968. Dr. Robinson has been Director of the University's Cartographic Laboratory since 1966 and has, since 1967, held the Lawrence Martin Professorship in Cartography, which is named for a former member of the Geography Department faculty and one-time Chief of the Library's Map Division.

Prof. Robinson is a past President of the Association of American Geographers and past Chairman of the Cartography Division, American Congress on Surveying and Mapping, and a member of the American Geographical Society. He is the author of several textbooks and numerous professional articles relating to various aspects of cartography. Former students of Prof. Robinson hold responsible cartographic positions in geography departments, libraries, and in commercial mapping organizations in many parts of the country.

He is recognized internationally as a leading authority on cartography and currently serves as President of the International Cartographic Association.

TREASURE MAPS AND ATLASES FEATURED IN G&M EXHIBIT

An exhibition of treasure maps and atlases will be shown in the Geography and Map Division, 845 South Pickett St., Alexandria, Va. until May 15. Selected maps, charts, and atlases relating to the reputed sites of hidden, lost, or buried treasures either on land or under water are highlighted. Several historical maps on exhibit show the routes of the 17th- and 18th-century Spanish plate fleets and the purported sites of sunken treasure galleons.

The 1690 "Buccaneer Atlas" by William Hacke is on display. This manuscript atlas was made and used by Captain Bartholomew Sharpe, a well-known British pirate. Hacke sailed with Captain Sharpe and later made several atlases from the personal knowledge gained from pirating activities.

Various government wreck charts on display show the gradual improvement of our knowledge of coastal features and the portrayal of modern navigational devices. A variety of contemporary maps illustrate the types of different cartographic techniques employed by commercial and private cartographers to depict treasure trove information. Many of the maps are modern, decorative, and popular as sales items or for tourist promotion.

Complimenting the exhibit is the recent published revised and enlarged cartobibliography A Descriptive List of Treasure Maps and Charts in the Library of Congress, compiled by Donald A. Wise of the Geography and Map Division. This publication lists 155 selected maps, charts, and atlases and is sold by the Superintendent of Documents U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20540, for 70 cents and will be available in person from the Library's Information Counter, Ground Floor, Main Building.

PIANO, VIOLIN CONCERT SET FOR MARCH 22

On Friday evening March 22, the McKim Fund in the Library of Congress will sponsor a concert of chamber music for violin and piano featuring Daniel Heifetz, violin, and Joseph Kalichstein, piano. Their program will include Sonata in B minor, S. 1014 by Johann Sebastian Bach; Sonata No. 2 in D major, Op. 94bis by Serge Prokofiev; and Sonata No. 3 in D minor, Op. 108 by Johannes Brahms.

This concert will begin promptly at 8:30 p.m. in the Coolidge Auditorium of the Library of Congress.

Tickets will be distributed by Patrick Hayes, 1300 G St., N.W., beginning at 8:30 a.m., on Monday, March 18. A service charge of 25 cents will be placed on each ticket and only two tickets are distributed to an individual. Telephone reservations may be made on Monday morning by calling 393-4463. Mail orders are not accepted.

This concert will be broadcast live and in its entirety by Station WETA-FM, and later made available to stations in other cities through the Katie and Walter Louchheim Fund in the Library of Congress.

"PENALTY FOR PRIVATE USE"

The officialese on U.S. Government envelopes causes some confusion to our overseas borrowers who have to decide just what parts are necessary to see that the request reaches its destination. A recent communication from a European library was addressed to the "Library of Congress, Official Business, Penalty for Private Use." There was no difficulty in seeing that it arrived at the Loan Division but the "Penalty" section raises the possibility of re-instituting the 1812 "Rules and Regulations for the Government of the Library of the United States," which provide for penalties of one dollar, fifty cents, and twenty-five cents per day (according to size) for every day's detention of a book beyond the specified term. The focus even in those more strict days was to secure the return of the book and the rules further state "that if the book illegally detained be returned, the fine or penalty shall in no case exceed double the value thereof." [Legare H. B. Obear]

CREDIT UNION ELECTIONS DRAW NEAR

The Library of Congress Federal Credit Union's Annual Meeting will be held on Wednesday, March 20, at 4:45 p.m. in the Coolidge Auditorium Reports of the President, Treasurer, and the Credit and Supervisory Committees will be presented and an election of officers will be held to fill three vacancies on the Board of Directors and one vacancy on the Credit Committee.

The Nominating Committee has nominated incumbents Arthur J. Lieb and Jennifer V. Magnus for the Board of Directors, and Patricia S. Hines for the Credit Committee. The committee nominated Louis R. Mortimer for the third vacancy on the Board of Directors.

Nominated by petition are Howard R. L. Cook, Stephen A. Crockett, and Sylvia H. Gee for the Board of Directors, and James E. Nix for the Credit Committee.

Credit Union membership cards must be presented in order to be eligible to vote. A drawing for door prizes will conclude the meeting.

AWARDS

Norris Nance, Laborer of the Buildings Services Section, was presented a 30-year Federal Service Award pin on March 1 by F. E. Croxton, Director of the Administrative Department.

A native of Clinton, S.C., Mr. Nance joined the Library staff in October 1943 as a member of the then Buildings and Grounds Division. He completed 30 years of Library service September 27, 1973.

Mr. Nance worked for various divisions of the Library and in 1967 was promoted to General Laborer, Building Services Section, the position he holds at the present time.

During the presentation, Mr. Croxton thanked Mr. Nance for all his assistance to the Library.

Charles Bullock, Jr., Reviser in the Searching Unit of the Bibliographic Inquiry Section of the Card Division, was presented a 20-year Federal Service Award pin on February 26 by Paul E. Edlund, Chief of the Card Division.

Mr. Bullock began his Federal service in 1953 with the Department of the Army. He subsequently worked for the Department of Highways and Traffic of the District of Columbia Government before coming to work as a Searcher Trainee in the Card Division in January 1962. He served as a Searcher, Federal Documents Reviser, and Investigator before assuming his present position in April 1972.

A native of North Carolina, Mr. Bullock received a B.A. degree from Howard University in 1953.

Tatiana Pinto, a Shelflister in the General Shelflisting Unit, Subject Cataloging Division, was recently awarded a 20-year Federal Service Award pin by Edward J. Blume, Chief of the Division.

Mrs. Pinto, a native of Paris, France, began her Federal service at the Library in 1951 in the Examining Division of the Copyright Office. In December of that year she became an Editorial Assistant in the Russian Accessions Section of the Exchange and Gift Division. From 1952 to 1958 she held a series of progressively responsible positions in the Cyrillic Bibliographic Project.

In March 1958, Mrs. Pinto transferred to the Aerospace Technology Division where she served until June 1969 as a Translator.

After a brief absence from the Library staff, she was reemployed by the Library in 1970 as a Shelflister.

STAFF ACTIVITIES

Roy P. Basler, Chief of the Manuscript Division, is editor of The Collected Works of Abraham Lincoln: Supplement, 1832-1865, published by Greenwood Press (Westport, Conn., 1974). Included are more than 500 newly discovered and identified items collected by the editor since the final volume of the Collected Works went to press in the fall of 1952. The Supplement volume is Number 7 in the Contributions in American Studies Series, edited by Robert H. Walker.

Nathalie Delougaz, Chief of the Shared Cataloging Division, was a guest speaker at a seminar, "Women in Communication and Media" at Trinity College, Washington, D.C. on March 2. Mrs. Delougaz spoke during the Language Workshop on the importance of learning foreign languages for a library career.

Ralph Garretson, Head of the Technical Section, Division for the Blind and Physically Handicapped, received the Annual Audio End User Achievement Award, a silver cup, from the International Tape Association, Inc. in person during the ITA's Fourth Annual Seminar in Tucson, Ariz., on February 24.

Claron Oakley of Audio Digest, in presenting the award, cited Mr. Garretson for his accomplishment "in creating, developing and promoting the use of the audio cassette medium in the talking book program for blind and physically handicapped persons. His efforts are bringing enjoyment and knowledge to those who otherwise would not know this experience."

The DBPH section head also participated in a seminar panel devoted to capitalizing on the innovations developed in the audio industry.

John B. Kuiper, Head of the Motion Picture Section, participated in a working session of The Executive Committee of the International Federation of Film Archives held February 15-18 in Helsinki, Finland.

The Federation, in which the Library holds full membership, periodically brings together film archivists from around the world to discuss the problems of motion picture preservation and research. The Federation has published a volume on motion picture film preservation and is currently at work on additional volumes on the preservation and storage of television, video tape, and color motion pictures. The Federation also sponsors publications on the documentation of motion picture materials, the cataloging of archival film collections, an index to international film periodicals, and is preparing a basic manual on archival film work.

Leo A. Orleans, Reference Department, participated in an all-day panel devoted to science in the People's Republic of China at the Annual Meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science held in San Francisco, Calif. He presented a paper entitled "Science Education and Manpower in the PRC."

Renata V. Shaw, Bibliographic Specialist in the Prints and Photographs Division, was the speaker for the Falls Church-Arlington Branch of the National League of American Pen Women on February 28. Her presentation was "Where can I find a picture?" and concluded with an informal question and answer session.

Ronald S. Wilkinson, Manuscript Historian, Manuscript Division, is the author of two articles in the spring issue of The Great Lakes Entomologist (Vol. 7, No. 1). "The genesis of A. R. Grote's 'Collecting Noctuidae by Lake Erie' " traces the background and composition of one of the classic 19th-century entomological essays. "Freezing Lepidoptera for temporary storage" explains an unusual and still experimental method of preserving insects until they can be prepared for scientific study.

"Books for Children Who Read by Touch or Sound," by Catherine B. Wires, Selection Assistant for juvenile and young adult material in the Division for the Blind and Physically Handicapped, is being reprinted in Indian Librarian for March. Sant Ram Bhatia, the magazine's editor, requested permission to reprint the article from The Quarterly Journal of the Library of Congress for April 1973.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Nguyen Hoa are the parents of a daughter, born at Sibley Hospital on February 17. Mr. Hoa is a staff member of the South Asian Languages Section, Descriptive Cataloging Division.

On Wednesday, March 20, the Library of Congress Professional Association will present Elizabeth Stone, Chairman, Department of Library Science, Catholic University of America, speaking on "Post MLS Continuing Education Program at the Catholic University of America." The meeting will be held in the Whittall Pavilion from 11:45 a.m. to 12:15 p.m.

Conference Proceedings Published

The International Exchange of Publications, the proceedings of the conference held in Vienna on April 24-29, 1972, has been published by Verlag Dokumentation, Munich, Germany. Convened at the invitation of the Austrian National Library, with the assistance of UNESCO and the Committee on the Exchange of Publications of the International Federation of Library Associations, the conference was attended by nearly 50 European exchange experts and observers from non-European countries.

Papers presented at the meetings concerned a variety of topics, including the role of international exchange in the library system, the relationship between international loans and exchanges, a survey of European exchange centers, and certain aspects of the economics of exchange. The major presentations dealt with exchanges with developing countries, specifically those of the British Museum with the English-speaking African countries, the Bibliothèque Nationale's exchanges with the French-speaking African countries, the Belgian Royal Library's with the Central African countries, and the experience of the Library of Congress in exchanging publications with the countries of Latin America. The report also includes the conference resolutions. The volume is available for $8 from the publisher, at Jaiserstrasse 13, Postfach 148, 8023 Pullach/München, West Germany. [Nathan R. Einhorn]
